

Statement of Her Highness on the Occasion of the Launch of the Community College Project.

“It gives me great pleasure to announce today the enhancement of our educational structure with the birth of the Community College as a special addition in building the edifice of our revived national educational project.

Unlocking human potential and empowering human beings constitutes the basis of our national vision towards building the knowledge based society with its identity, values and cultural origins, capable of comprehending the contemporary scientific and technological achievements.

The inauguration of the Community College in Qatar as a new educational edifice comes as a continuation of the educational system which we are seeking within the context of the wise policy of His Highness the Emir revolving around the development of the Qatari individual through investing in education as the main component of human development, and connecting the learning outcomes to the job market needs and the requirements of sustainable development.

Having a college for our community, is to me and to all the children of this nation, a sign of maturity, awareness, responsibility and commitment accompanied with the power of making a difference and reaching higher levels. It is a clear proof of the participation of the entire society in building the State of institutions.”
